

Qustodio Launches New Affiliate Program

Barcelona, Spain, May 31, 2013 Qustodio is happy to announce the launch of its new affiliate program. The company, which provides leading parental control & computer monitoring solutions, is giving affiliates the chance to earn a 30 percent commission on sales.

Designed for families, Qustodio gives parents a way to monitor, manage and protect children's online activities on any device: PC, Mac, Android and iOS. Qustodio's web-based dashboard gives parents key details of their child's activity and the ability to respond to issues immediately. The product is currently priced at $49.95 and is promoted in free and trial versions.

The new affiliate program offers a win-win situation for those who take advantage of it. Affiliates will benefit from promoting an internationally recognized parental control software, and will earn a commission on each customer who is referred.

Program highlights:

- Qustodio recently earned the rating of Excellent from PC Magazine
- Easy to promote: The product has a 7day free trial version as well as a Free version
- First class terms: Up to 30% commission on sales within 365 days

- Support from our dedicated Affiliate team
- Access to customized advertising material and landing pages
- Participation in regular partner promotions and upgrade campaigns

If you are currently promoting or distributing content related to parents, children and/or families, Qustodio may be an excellent fit for you.
